DINNER THEATRE

Homewood Public Library's annual Mystery Dinner Theatre has been scheduled for Friday, October 27, and Saturday, October 28, in the library's main auditorium. The 10th anniversary production will feature a unique, thrilling adaptation of Bram Stoker's Dracula. The particular version being performed is the adaptation by Hamilton Deane and John L. Balderton.

As in previous years, each evening will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a delicious meal catered by Buffalo Rock's Catering Creations followed immediately by the performance.

Alan Gardner, former Director of Theatre Arts at Homewood High School, will direct the performance. He is currently the Director of Theatre Arts at Thompson High School in Alabaster and also serves as Artistic Director of Alabaster's South City Theatre. Dracula will be South City Theatre's fall production and, after completing its run there, the company will relocate the set and the actors to Homewood for the two performances at the library.

Ticket prices are $20 each and will go on sale on Monday, October 2, in the Adult Services Department at Homewood Public Library. For further information, please call 332-6624.
